Planning For Next Year

There are just a couple of months left in the academic year. Your student may be juggling a number of issues to get ready for the end of term.

Gearing up for final exams
There are a number of great resources on campus to help students build skills and get organized. The Student Academic Success Services (SASS) department offers learning strategies workshops, a writing centre and peer support. Library staff can also provide great tips for making the most of library resources.

Looking for a summer job
Summer jobs are a great way for students to gain real-world experience during their studies. Queen’s Career Services offers a wealth of information about job opportunities both on-campus and across Canada in a number of different fields. They also have an online summer job bank called MyCareer on their website, where students can browse open job and internship postings.

Continuing to learn
Some students wish to continue their studies throughout the summer. The Bader International Study Centre in England (our very own castle!) offers a number of summer courses and the chance to study while exploring Europe.

Planning flights for the end of term?
Please note that, in order to maintain a quiet study environment, students are required to vacate Residences no later than 24 hours after completing their last exam. If there is a reason that they need to stay longer, they must request approval to do so using our Stayover Application Form which will be online. All students must vacate their residence by noon on April 30th. Exam schedules are now posted in SOLUS.

Getting the most out of meal plans
Students can check their meal plan balance with any food services cashier. Don’t forget that meal plans and meal equivalencies expire at the end of term, while Flex$ carry over. Visit our Hospitality Services website for details.

Looking for a place to live?
Our Community Housing website has house and apartment listings from both university-owned units and rentals from local landlords.
